A bear cub was also turned over to him. Doebling said next week he will start enforcing a law which provides for a $100 fine for removing a deer and $200 for removing a bear from their natural habitat. Doebling points out that once captured animals may not be released in the wilds again since they generally have lost their fear of human beings by then.

Kishi Charges Pro-Reds Try To Void Treaty

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi charged Wednesday that pro-Communist elements are behind the movement to void the new military treaty he signed with the United States last January.

The conservative Japanese leader, facing the biggest crisis of his postwar political career, took the offensive against the Socialists and the Sohyo labor federation, leaders of a noisy campaign of huge demonstrations demanding his resignation.

They have also been urging defeat of the new U. S.-Japan security treaty and suspension of President Eisenhower's visit here this month.

Kishi pointed out that many opposing the new security treaty had previously been urging revision of the 1951 treaty signed under U. S. occupation and allowing U. S. military bases in Japan.

Among these people are those who clearly support communism, and people who are trying to split Japan and the United States under the name of neutralism and bring Japan one step closer to communism," he said.

"Approval or rejection of the security pact is a choice between defending Japan's peace and security in cooperation with the free world countries and peace on the side of the Communist countries."

Kishi defended his government's policy at a meeting of the House of Councillors special committee debating the treaty. The session was boycotted by all parties except his own. The lower house of Parliament ratified the pact May 20 and it automatically goes into effect June 19, the day Eisenhower is due to arrive.

Welcoming Committee

In separate meetings with government and party aides, Kishi also mapped measures for marshaling a huge welcome of 600,000 people to downtown the "go home Ike" demonstrations planned by antigovernment forces.

Two prominent women leaders—Mrs. Kuno Jodai, president of the Japan Women's University, and Mrs. Tamaki Uemura, national chairman of the YWCA—joined the demand for cancellation of the visit.

Mrs. Uemura was one of three selected by the left-wing Sohyo labor organization to go to the United States on a special mission to urge Americans to cancel the visit.

Sohyo opened a special convention at Omuta in southern Japan. Representing 3½ million workers, its general council unanimously adopted a resolution opposing the trip and charging the White House statement reaffirming the President's plans "was to prop up the tottering Kishi Cabinet."

A new storm also threatened over a statement attributed to U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. Japanese newspapers quoted Herter as telling the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the area covered by the new treaty includes the Soviet Union.

This struck directly at Japanese fears that the United States might send its forces from their Japanese bases to Soviet Asia on the excuse of protecting peace and security in the Far East, thus involving Japan in a war.

Israel Told To Return Eichmann

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentina demanded Wednesday night that Israel return ex-Nazi Adolf Eichmann and punish those responsible for his recent capture on Argentine soil.

Argentina said the case will be taken to the United Nations. The Argentine attitude was tougher than had been predicted.

In a note to Israel, the Argentine government said the seizure of Eichmann involved a violation of national territory. Israel had sought to soothe Argentines' ruffled feelings of offended sovereignty.

The Argentine note said that once Eichmann is returned to this country, Israel will find the way paved for asking his delivery according to means granted by international law.

Eichmann, former Nazi leader accused of complicity in the deaths of six million Jews in the Hitler regime, now is imprisoned in Israel.

Rock To Nixon: Talk Up On Issues

Senate Unit Adds Billion For Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate appropriations subcommittee has recommended nearly a billion dollars more than President Eisenhower asked for defense in the coming fiscal year. Its total was set Wednesday at more than 40 billion dollars.

In sending the giant bill to the full committee, the subcommittee voted hundreds of millions of dollars for the B-70 bomber, the 2,000-mile-an-hour B-70 bomber. The House had rejected virtually all funds for both of these.

At the same time, the subcommittee struck out a big increase the House had voted for an airborne alert of the nation's strategic bombers and refused to grant the Air Force money for two more squadrons of Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Friday Approval

Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM), chairman of the subcommittee, predicted the measure would win approval of the full Appropriations Committee, probably Friday.

"There probably will be efforts on the Senate floor to step up some items," he told newsmen.

Staff experts said the Senate bill's total is $40,166,097,000—some 950 million dollars more than the revised Eisenhower budget and $28 million over the House total for the bookkeeping year starting July 1.

They said the breakdown would be: Air Force 17,339,836,000 or 496 million more than the House; Navy and Marines 12,203,465,000 or 303 million more than the House; Army 9,431,496,000 or 27 million more than the House; and Office of the Secretary of Defense $1,191,300,000 or $1,300,000 more than the House.

Chavez said his group voted 294 million to assure production of supersonic Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles, which have had a poor test record. It added another 75 million to complete two Pacific Northwest Bomarc missile bases which had been halted.

AFL Elects Burke

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Joseph F. Burke, 59, of Philadelphia, Wednesday was elected to succeed Joseph A. McDonough as president of the AFL Pennsylvania Federation of Labor.

Nelson Rockefeller

Vice President Nixon

Most Republicans Stand With Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's challenge to Vice President Richard M. Nixon to speak out on major issues caused many Republicans in Congress to rally behind Nixon Wednesday.

Republicans greeted Rockefeller's statement with surprise. A number withheld comment. Some agreed that Nixon should spell out his views in more detail as the New York governor urged. But a number took the position that the vice president is obliged to support the Eisenhower administration position until he received his party's presidential nomination.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, said the vice president would have no immediate comment on Rockefeller's statement, issued in New York City after the governor had talked with President Eisenhower Wednesday morning.

Nixon Sees Tie

Nixon himself was closeted with Eisenhower 45 minutes Wednesday afternoon. He declined to see reporters there, and a White House spokesman said Eisenhower would have no comment on Rockefeller's statement.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky), who classes himself as a Republican liberal, said that if the New York governor feels as he says he does he ought to try for the GOP nomination.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) said Nixon "ought to speak out on both national and international issues." But he said he did not agree.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, the assistant Senate Republican leader, said he has urged Nixon in the past to speak out on the issues and he added:

"Where the vice president has different views from the President on public questions, I would hope that he would find it possible soon to discuss them publicly."

Defended by Mundt

"But the vice president is a member of the administration and, in the main, the President's record will be the basis for this year's presidential campaign."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD), a Nixon backer, said it "appears that Nixon has been rather steadily presenting his viewpoints on various issues to the American people over the years."

Sen. Charles McNair (R-Ore.) said he has urged Nixon in the past to speak out on the issues and he added:

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller challenged Vice President Richard M. Nixon Wednesday to speak out on major issues prior to the Republican National Convention.

Doe Season Licenses Allocated

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Game Commission Wednesday authorized 230,000 licenses for a special one-day antlerless deer hunting season—a one-third reduction from last year.

(Monroe County was allocated 3,150 licenses, Pike 5,500 and Wayne 6,000.)

In reducing the allocation, the game commission said it aimed at maintaining Pennsylvania's "reputation as one of the best deer hunting states in the nation."

But the move ran counter to forestry and agricultural organizations, who have contended that the state's deer herd should be reduced to prevent browsing on commercial crop-producing areas.

Only One Day

Last year the commission allocated 371,500 licenses for a longer season. This year the special season—limited to doe and spike bucks—is Dec. 17, immediately after the regular season, which is limited to antlered bucks.

The special seasons are aimed at trimming the herd to prevent winter starvation.

Licenses are allocated to counties according to available food supplies, the commission said. Applications are available wherever hunting licenses are sold, but the licenses themselves are obtainable only at county treasurers' offices.

RESEARCH — Verne Smith, Bangor, on the left, and John Rusnock, Kelayres, work on their recent research project at Lafayette College.

Bangor Resident Assists In Lafayette Research

EASTON — Two prospective Lafayette College alumni from northeastern Pennsylvania participated in a National Science Foundation research program during their senior year on the campus.

John Rusnock of Kelayres, Schuylkill County, and Verne Smith of Bangor, Northampton County, conducted an independent project which sought to determine the corrosion rates of stainless steel by electrochemical means.

Also Found

Both chemical engineering majors, Rusnock and Smith found that they could prevent corrosion of stainless steel under oxidizing conditions by impressing it with a sufficient amount of external anodic, or positive electric current.

They also found that in non-oxidizing conditions, the corrosion of stainless steel is no longer under anodic control, but that it could be protected when a high cathodic current was impressed to it.

The two students obtained their conclusions by running a large number of tests under varying conditions.

Both Rusnock and Smith graduated from Lafayette during commencement ceremonies on Friday morning. Both will do graduate work in chemical engineering — Rusnock under a fellowship at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and Smith under a research assistantship at Purdue University.

Rusnock lives at 38 Fourth St., Kelayres. Smith's home is at 1 Broadway, Bangor.

Will we run out of college teachers?

Let's hope not! We're going to need 200,000 more of them by 1970. For college applications are expected to double by then!

Yet the depressing fact is that today low salaries are forcing college teachers to leave the campus for better paying jobs elsewhere.

This must stop! Help the college of your choice now.

Barking Dog Saves 7 Kids

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The barking of a dog saved the lives of seven children Wednesday in a fire on Pittsburgh's North Side. One other child suffocated.

The victim was a 9-year-old Charles Lewis. His sister, Linda, 3, was treated at a hospital for smoke inhalation. They were found unconscious in a second floor bedroom.

Six other Lewis boys—ranging in age from 17 months to 15 years—escaped unhurt.

Three firemen suffered minor injuries. Cause of the fire has not been determined. Battalion Chief Henry Dudek estimated the damage at $3,000.

Police reported the father, Nathaniel Lewis, was in Allegheny General Hospital with pneumonia and the mother, Mrs. Agnes Lewis, was not home at the time of the fire.

Invokes New Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers filed a suit Tuesday at Shreveport, La., to bring into play the voting reference provisions of the 1960 Civil Rights Act for the first time.

A city's suburbs may be 20 degrees cooler than its downtown business center, says the National Geographic Society, because business buildings store solar energy.

Three "American Soloists" are featured on "Spring Festival" at 10 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10 in an hour-long concert with the CBS Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Alfredo Antonini. The stars are: Violinist Aaron Rosand; Harmonica virtuoso John Sebastian and Pianist John Browning.

All parties in the agreement which permits keeping Gravel Place crossing open to traffic are to be congratulated.

The crossing carries a much heavier volume of travel now than it did in the years immediately before 1945, when the Public Utility Commission granted the Lackawanna Railroad permission to close the crossing.

The increased traffic on Stokes Mill Road is the result of the erection of several new industries in Stroud Township near the crossing and the subsequent development of nearby residential areas.

The crossing was re-opened in 1955 after the August flood destroyed the bridge which spanned the railroad and Brodheads Creek south of Analomink.

After a new bridge was constructed, the railroad petitioned anew for closing the crossing. But local residents protested, contending that the road should be kept open across the tracks both as a convenience to the many motorists and for police and fire protection.

At a public hearing, the cost of installing automatic signals and gates was set at $36,000. Monroe County agreed to pay $9,000 of the amount, Stroud Township contributed $4,000 and the PUC added $7,000 of state funds. The remaining $16,000 is to be paid by the railroad, which also will assume responsibility for maintenance.

Such a sharing of the costs works a hardship on none of the parties and permits the heavily traveled road to be maintained as a through route. Everyone who was a party in the agreement deserves praise for working out an amicable settlement of the problem.

Relations With Cuba

Two events these past several days have pointed up the melancholic state of our nation's relations with Cuba.

One event was the Cuban Government's invitation to Premier Khrushchev to visit that country. Cuba, of course, has the right to issue such an invitation, and the Soviet Premier visited our country only last September.

But the decision to issue the invitation at this time will inevitably be interpreted as an endorsement of Premier Khrushchev's tactics at the summit and of his tirades against our nation and President Eisenhower.

Last Saturday's State Department note summarized very well the recent history of deteriorating relations between the two countries. It recited the slanderous campaign the Castro regime has carried on against us; it pointed up the injustices and illegalities perpetrated upon American property owners in and suppliers to Cuba, and the irresponsible behavior of Premier Castro and his associates toward us.

There is much tragedy in all this for the people of Cuba and of our country. The positive aspects of the Castro program which aimed at land reform, industrialization and abolition of illiteracy in Cuba have always enjoyed wide support here and have been viewed sympathetically by our Government.

But for reasons best known to Premier Castro and his associates they have chosen to associate this program with an attitude of hostility toward the United States, while showing increasing sympathy and approval for Soviet Russia and Communist China.

In these attitudes the Castro clique does not, in our opinion, speak for the Cuban people.—New York Times.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Letter To Khrushchev

To Tovarisch Chairman Khrushchev:

It is a pity that you do not understand this country. It would save you from so many mistakes if you did. I have read somewhere that your dear wife is a specialist in American history. You might learn something from her.

Be that as it may, you act like a brute which is probably because you were not brought up to be a gentleman. You abuse. You vilify. You shout. You use vulgar language. You act like a country bumpkin with a skunkful of vodka.

It is a pity because cunningly you rose to a high position in the world — a position for which you are neither by breeding nor training fit. After all, your experience has been that of an apparition, that is, a ward politician maneuvering his way upward by trickery, flattery, cajoling.

You denounced Stalin to whom you owed everything. You bit the hand that fed you. Kaganovich picked you out of the mud and made something of a man of you. What did you do to him? In this country, we would say, you doublecrossed him.

What did you do to your drinking partner, Bulganin? Do you remember him? You were once his Number Two. Where is he today? Where is your former playmate, Malenkov? Where is Zhukov who put you in power?

Ah! Nikita! You are a smart boy. You can turn on a dime. You can change your mind at a second's notice when things go wrong. That is how you outlasted everybody. It is truly wonderful how you outlasted all your comrades. The fools, they trusted you.

So, you do not like our President Eisenhower. Did anybody ask you? We do not elect a President to please you. That is for Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and even Poland.

You cannot vote in this country and your foul voice will not sway public opinion except to disgust everybody.

You do not like Nixon because he made a monkey of you in your own country. You will not like Lyndon Johnson among the Democrats because he has a sense of honor and dignity.

So, do we care? Truly, Nikita, we do not give even one damn whether you like or do not like. In fact, if you continue to insult like the American people will quickly repeal the 22nd Amendment and elect him to a third term.

You like, you say, dead men like Washington, Lincoln and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Listen, Nikita, Washington and Lincoln would have shown you the back of their hands and as for Franklin D. Roosevelt, your old boss, Stalin, did him in at Yalta because Roosevelt was obviously dying. So was Harry Hopkins.

You listen to American Communists and to such old men as Cyrus Eaton, a Canadian who became an American citizen because he was making money here and who, in his last years, regarded himself as superior to the entire American government. Nobody takes him too seriously here.

There was an idiot by the name of Adolf Hitler who thought that he could interfere in the affairs of this country. You will remember that the whole American people turned on Hitler, including the 40,000,000 or so descendants of Germans who settled here. We were one people against Hitler and your big mouth and bad temper are forcing us to be as one man against you.

Do you know, Nikita, that every time I write that you are a Ukrainian, I receive letters from Americans of Ukrainian origin demanding to know why I insult them by relating their motherland to you, whom they regard as a beast. It is a very bad reputation that you have.

Speak on! You are making like Eisenhower a beloved man, more beloved than he ever was. You are causing Americans to hate you as they hate anything that is foul, ugly, miserable, horrible to behold. You ought to look at the pictures they took of you in Paris.

Only Dostoevsky could describe such a character as you are — a congenital scoundrel. I once saw such a creature in a play by Gorki. It said that such a country like Russia has to have such a man as you to lead it.

Our slogan is: "God bless President Eisenhower!"

He will outlast you, for your days are numbered. Count them on your fingers.

Demo Setback

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Unquestionably one of the sharpest setbacks of the year for the Democratic Lawrent Administration developed this week on Capitol Hill when Republicans controlling the State Senate refused to go along with the administration's insistence on final adjournment.

It marks the second defeat of the year for administration Democrats on the issue. They were rebuffed originally back in February when the GOP Senate turned thumbs down and came up with the recess schedule that kept the Legislature out of session — but in being — until this week.

A Legislature in being of course, inevitably is somewhat of a "millstone" around the necks of any administration. It has a "breaking" effect on the executive branch.

The important point is that once a Legislature adjourns finally, it cannot be reconvened in session itself. It can only be called back into special session thereafter by the Governor — and even then it may consider only those subjects specified by the Governor in his proclamation.

On the other hand a Legislature meeting in regular session — even though in recess — can consider any subject, any point or any matter it desires.

Add to this the fact that legislative authority exceeds that of the executive branch and it isn't too difficult to understand why an administration always is most anxious to get lawmakers "out of their hair."

Unquestionably a Legislature in session is the best insurance against an executive branch going overboard — or embarking upon a move that might fall within the realm of "questionable" insofar as jurisdiction is concerned.

In recent years complaints have increased over the executive branch overstepping its authority — that is, trying to usurp the authority of the legislative branch. This perhaps reached its peak during the preceding Democratic Leader Administration.

Somewhat paradoxically such charges during the current Lawrent Administration have been few and far between — a decided contrast to the clamor and uproar of the Leader Administration.

This unquestionably is due in part to the fact that in Mr. Lawrence's tenure the Legislature has been in being ever since he assumed office! In other words, it has provided little opportunity for any while-they-are-away activity on the part of the executive branch!

Mr. Lawrence as the cautious political old pro knows full well the value of staying within proper bounds — even though it might entail extensive, teeth-grinding privacy.

His has been one of the few administrations of comparatively recent time where anti-administration lawmakers have found precious little in which to sink their political teeth.

As for the present recess schedule now mapped out for Pennsylvania's 1960 Legislature: A Legislature in being is always ready for return to Capitol Hill should the unusual occasion demand it. With a skeleton "mechanical" force the cost is small.

The lawmaking podium on Capitol Hill is still one of the best campaign soapboxes yet advised for lawmakers — and all 210 House seats are up this year plus 25 of the 50 Senate seats. The fact that this is a presidential election year — and much hinges on the outcome of the presidential runoff in Pennsylvania — adds considerable zest to the in-session legislative move on the part of out-of-office Republicans.

All of this of course, has been standard procedure in Congress in Washington for years. It is only now beginning to become a part of the scene in Pennsylvania!

This seems like an appropriate time to talk about freezing — freezing foods, I mean, not freezing people.

Frozen foods have made home-making much easier for American women. They also are making foods much safer.

There is nothing new about keeping foods fresh through the use of cold storage. But by quick-freezing them, as most of you know, they can be kept much, much longer.

The process involves the freezing of fruits and vegetables in temperatures considerably below 32 degrees as quickly as possible after they are picked.

Meats and poultry are frozen after desired aging.

Retain Vitamins
Foods frozen properly not only retain virtually all of their taste but, more important, they retain most of their vitamin content as well.

Rarely do micro-organisms other than molds grow at sub-freezing temperatures. And you can protect most foods against molds by sealing them in some impervious material. Some foods may also have to be blanched.

Don't Develop
Bacteria which produce disease—including the extremely dangerous botulinum organism do not grow in sub-freezing temperatures.

Still, freezing does not kill the spores of Clostridium botulinum, nor does it eliminate the danger from any toxin which might have been present before the foods were frozen.

Clostridium botulinum is a relatively rare species of bacteria which can enter foods from the earth.

Destroyed By Boiling
The botulinum toxin is the most powerful one we know. However if it is in the food it can be destroyed by five minutes of boiling.

The parasites sometimes found in fresh meat can be killed by freezing.

However, freezing and boiling kill the tissues of meats. This makes it easier for bacteria to infect meats once they have become thawed.

Don't Wait
Thus I recommend that you cook or eat frozen foods immediately after they have thawed.

If this can't be done for some reason, I suggest that you store the thawed foods in temperatures under 40 degrees until you can use them.

The Allen-Scott Report

Cuba: Soviet Outpost

Washington — Soviet Premier Khrushchev is going to find plenty of his Communist compatriots in Cuba if he goes through with his plan to visit that Caribbean hot spot.

For the past seven weeks, Russia has been flying large numbers of engineers and technicians there to supervise the building of air and submarine bases, a steel plant and oil refinery.

More than 250 of these Russian agents already have arrived in Havana since the Soviets began their unannounced airlift late in April. Another 100 Cuban-bound Russians are now waiting in East Berlin for air transportation.

These Soviet technicians are being flown by Aeroflot, the Russian airline, from Moscow to Paris via East Berlin and Warsaw. From the French capital, they travel aboard British, French, and U.S. airlines to Havana.

The Cuban government has constructed special facilities, including a special air terminal at Jose Marti Airport near Havana, to receive the Soviet technicians and to hide their arrival from Western correspondents.

According to U.S. intelligence, the newly arriving technicians are being assigned mainly to the airfield construction that is being masked under a program of general Russian economic development assistance to Cuba. This program was worked out when Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas Mikoyan visited Premier Fidel Castro earlier this year.

For instance, Soviet technicians are already supervising the construction of a 12,500-foot runway with an unusually heavy concrete base near Matanzas.

This airstrip when completed in the fall will be able to handle the largest Soviet aircraft. Planes like the 170-passenger TU-114 jet that brought Khrushchev to the U.S. last September, or the four-jet TU-4 Soviet Bomber, with a range of 6,000 miles will be able to make the trip non-stop from Russia.

Making Plans — The danger of these potential flights has so alarmed top U.S. officials that the State Department recently approached the French government seeking to bar this traffic through Paris.

In reply the French foreign office took the position that there is nothing illegal about the Cuban-bound traffic, and if blocked the Russians would simply shift to other routes.

The French officials also contended that as long as the traffic flows through Paris, French and U.S. intelligence can keep track of the numbers of Soviet and other Communist bloc technicians going to Cuba and other Latin American countries.

Top State Department experts on Russia are fully convinced that the airlift is part of an over-all plan to bring Cuba wholly within the Soviet orbit, by making it a military, as well as an economic and propaganda, Western Hemisphere outpost for the Kremlin.

As reported in this column on April 15, Castro has begun construction of a submarine base and is using Soviet engineers to complete this secret project on the southern coast of Cuba.

As a counter move, the Central Intelligence Agency is seriously considering supplying secret aid to individuals and groups in Cuba to oust Castro and the Communists in his government.

This explosive plan, which could easily touch off a new civil war in Cuba, is now before the National Security Council, top policy making agency of the government.

Benson Off Again — Articulate Secretary Ezra Taft Benson plans to make a round-the-world "trade trip" this summer. He will start his travels late in July, following the GOP National Convention.

Tentative plans call for Benson to visit all countries in Europe and then fly to Southeast Asia, making stops in India, Burma, Malaya, Indonesia, the Philippines and Japan.

Aides of the controversial cabinet member deny that the trip is designed to keep him out of the coming political campaign.

Instead, they point out that Benson has notified GOP Chairman Thurston Morton that he will be back in the country by mid-September — or in plenty of time to campaign. They also report that Benson has offered to make speeches in any state for the national GOP ticket or any congressional candidate.

To date, there have been few takers in Congress of the Secretary's offer to campaign.

MOSCOW — TO — NEW YORK — U. S. Soviet delegations meet July 18 in New York to work out a commercial air routes agreement between the two countries. State Department air experts are forecasting that an exchange will be approved that will permit regular scheduled flights by U. S. airlines to Moscow and by the Soviet airline, Aeroflot, to New York . . . Commercial pilots flying European airline planes to Moscow report that Russia has three rings of missile installations surrounding Moscow. The first is located just 20 miles from the Soviet capital; the second, 250 miles out; and the third, over 600 miles away. They report that Moscow is the most heavily defended city against air attack in the world. CIA Director Allen Dulles has told congressional leaders that these Moscow missile defenses cost the Kremlin between $20 billion and $40 billion.

On Broadway — by Walter Winchell

Small World Dept.: It happened the other night . . . Louis Prima, husband of Keely Smith, took the ship home from Hawaii . . . Keely, as always flew . . . A cab driver (who had just driven Keely to the . . . H m p shire House on Central Park South from International Airport Idlewild) decided to get his next fare from the Pennsylvania Depot at 33rd Street. His passenger was Prima.

"Oh, Boy!" ejaculated the hackie, as Prima got in. "I just drove your wife to 59th Street from Idlewild! A million-to-one shot."

The cabbie then told the Squaw Man: "Same thing happened a year ago. I got three Japanese in my hack at the TWA terminal, Idlewild. All the way to midtown Manhattan I noticed one of them studying my face through the mirror. I kept staring at him, too, every time the lights stopped me.

"Then as I reach their destination, the Japanese who kept looking at me got out and said: 'Remember me?'"

"Yes!" I almost hollered, "it just came to me! Guam! You were my prisoner!"

The hackie told Prima that

Sewer Bids Total Nearly $1,700,000

BANGOR — Bangor Sewer Authority last night received unofficial low bids totaling $1,695,546.85 for construction of storm and sanitary sewers and a sewer disposal plant here.

Apparent low bidders were C. and T. Affiliates, Collingswood, N. J., who bid $1,330,624.85 for construction of storm and sanitary sewers; Tri-County Construction Corp., North Hills, with a bid of $339,222 for the disposal plant, and H. N. Crowder Co., Allentown, $25,700 for the electrical work.

The bid on the sewers was about $300,000 less than bids rejected by the authority on March 27. The disposal plant bid was about $54,000 lower, but the electrical bid was about $3,700 higher.

Other Bids
Other area bidders included Easton Electrode Co., Wind Gap, $25,800, and John D'Avanzo, Roseto, $26,900, for electrical work. The authority will meet next Tuesday to review the bids and establish a bond issue.

It is anticipated the plant and sewers can be built at a cost of $5 per front foot, a $50 tap-in fee and an annual rental of $55 to $60 if the borough underwrites the project to the amount of about $20,000 yearly.

FLUORESCENT DECALS — These will start being placed in the homes of invalids in Stroud Township by the Stroud Township Volunteer Fire Co. Large one is placed on the front door, and small one on the window of the invalid's room.

Stroud Township Firemen Mark Homes Of Invalids

STROUD Township Volunteer Fire Co., is making it quicker and easier to rescue invalids in case of a fire.

Chief Lester Rice said the firemen this week began placing bright red decals, featuring the letter "I" on the homes of invalids so bed-ridden cases can be removed to safety as soon as the volunteers arrive at the scene of a fire.

The fire company is the third in the state of Pennsylvania to put the plan into operation and it is the first small company in the state to use the plan.

There are two fluorescent decals to be placed at the residence of an invalid. The large one will be placed on the front door of the building and the second, a smaller one, placed on the window of the room occupied by the invalid.

Basically the plan works like this. The fire company receives a call and responds. When the first piece of equipment arrives at the scene a man is detailed to look at the front door for a marker.

There being a marker there he reports it and immediately starts looking for the second marker denoting the room the person is in. When this is found he starts work to remove the invalid.

All this is being done while the rest of the men are fighting the fire.

The fire company is asking all the residents in the township, where there is an invalid in the home, to send a postal card to the company at 120 Bridge St., Stroudsburg.

On the card they are asked to put the following information: person's name, address, type of illness, location of invalid's room — first, second or third floor.

The company asked that only a postal card be sent as cards will be placed in a file at headquarters. This file will also save some time in locating any invalid in the house.

As the equipment is on its way to the scene of the fire the men operating the radio, connecting the fire house with the trucks, can tell the firemen where to find the invalid before they arrive at the fire.

Chief Rice said, "The first couple of minutes of any fire are the most important minutes to the firemen. It means the fire will be controlled in short order or the building will be lost."

"With this in mind I ask all the township people to aid us in this operation by sending in the postal card as soon as possible so our secretary, Arthur Kitzman, can place the decals

Salary Set For School Principal

POCONO Mountain Joint School approved the salary for the principal and the guidance counselor at its meeting last night in Swiftwater.

Lawrence Wile, who is receiving $7,100 per year as principal at Pocono Township, will receive a $400 increase the first year as principal of the new high school building and the salary will be increased $400 each year until a maximum of $8,900 is reached.

George Webb will be the guidance counselor and will be given a $200 increase above his present salary of $7,100. He will receive a $200 increase each year until his salary reaches a maximum of $7,500.

The board also announced it had approved the teachers' salary schedule and that it would be made public after the faculty had received a copy of it.

Other business was the paying of the bills and approving recommendation for changes in certain materials in the construction of the new school building.

In the mail with instructions as to where they should be placed."

Board Upholds Decision In Jobless Benefit Case

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG — The State Unemployment Compensation Board of Review yesterday upheld a referee's decision granting jobless pay benefits to Vera P. McDonough, Benter Ave., Mount Pocono.

The case was appealed to the board by the State Bureau of Employment Security on grounds that she "refused a referral to suitable work without good cause within the meaning of the law."

Board records show that the local employment office offered her a job referral and that she did not accept the referral because she felt that the wages offered her were "too low."

Difference In Pay

The board pointed out that she received $60 weekly in her last employment and $4110 a year in prior employment while the wage rate in the referral employment was $25 a week. "Under these circumstances," said the board, "we must conclude that the referral was not suitable because of the disparity in wages."

"Since she is able and available for suitable work and places no undue restrictions on her availability, she meets the requirements of the law and accordingly is eligible for benefits," the board held in its decision.

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess reported to Council Tuesday on land needed before a new reservoir for the borough can be constructed.

Hess said the tracts involved comprise between 70 and 75 acres. An appraisal of the properties was ordered by Council.

Fred Decker reported the present reservoir will be cleaned this week. Randall Ott was appointed to make a house-to-house survey to determine the number of water outlets.

The street department reported it is mowing grass along borough streets and at Memorial Park and that tables were repainted at Lake Lenape.

Mrs. Jean Davis, treasurer, reported balances of $10,698.36 in the water fund, $6,540.14 in the general fund and $1,303.07 in the highway fund.

County CD Aides Get 'Duck' Drill

CAPT. Kenneth Wheeler, U. S. Army Reserve of Scranton and several of his instructors conducted a training course at Pardee Place's Beach for members of the Monroe County Civil Defense Boat, Rescue and Skin Diving units, on the recently acquired amphibious "Duck."

The course consisted of a one-hour lecture on the birth of the vehicle and how it was drafted into service during World War II. The nomenclature and operation, in various conditions, and how it could be employed by the unit in time of emergency.

Wheeler pointed out that the vehicle could transport 20 or more victims on litters lashed to the duck at one time.

Those attending the course were Marvin E. Abel, Monroe County CD security chief; Francis Widdoss, temporary boat captain; Edward Dilgins, Harold Seip, Edward Burnett, Jacob Dutter, engineer and instructor; Ernest Klingel, Earl Palmer, Roy Shields, Donald Widdoss, Richard Jennings, Eugene Leffler, Neil Fredricks, Joseph Spedalieri and Vincent R. Graziano. The last two men represented Pike County CD Office.

Tiny Baby Returns To Frey Home

SOUTH STERLING—Little Carrie Lynn Frey has come home. The tiny baby, still not up to her birthweight at the age of nearly three weeks, is "improving rapidly" at her home.

Born May 22 at Hahnemann Hospital, Scranton, it was discovered soon after her birth that she was suffering from an esophageal occlusion—a blockage of the esophagus. Rushed to St. Christopher's Hospital in Philadelphia for emergency surgery, the young lady came through the successful operation which saved her life. She was brought home last weekend by her parents, Karin (Bokelberg) and Edwin Frey.

Carrie Lynn weighed seven pounds, eleven ounces at birth. She has reached seven pounds, eight ounces and is gaining rapidly.

Senate Blocks Draft Killing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee Wednesday defeated 8-5 a move to knock the unrestricted baseball player draft out of the Kefauver professional sports bill.

It also defeated, 5-3, an amendment by Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) that would have prevented the Continental League from participating in the player draft until it is established as a part of organized baseball.

Action on the bill itself was blocked when Sen. Romm L. Hruska (R-Neb) objected to the committee meeting after the start at noon of Wednesday's Senate session. Under Senate rules unanimous consent is necessary for such meetings.

MR. PRESIDENT by Patrick and Vinmont

ZACHARY TAYLOR

Born in Orange County, Virginia, November 24, 1784. He attended the country school and worked on his father's farm until of age. At 23 he was appointed a lieutenant in the army. He was a major in the War of 1812, a colonel in the Black Hawk War, and a brigadier general in the Seminole War. From 1840 to 1846 he was in command of the Department of the Southwest. He opened the engagement with Mexico at Palo Alto, fought the battle of Resaca de la Palma and captured Monterey. At Buena Vista, with an army outnumbered four to one, he spurned Santa Anna's demand for surrender and defeated the Mexicans. After forty years of military service he retired to his farm.

He greeted the first Presidential proposal as nonsense but soon yielded to the tempting suggestion. The Whigs nominated him without knowing how he stood on any question.

Inaugurated the twelfth President of the United States, March 5, 1849, he served sixteen months. The Compromise of 1850 was being prepared. He showed a most uncompromising determination to uphold the Union and gave warning that he would command the army in person against any rebellion. At the laying of the cornerstone of the Washington Monument, July 4, 1850, he became ill. He died in the White House five days later, aged 65.

JOHN MIDDLETON CLAYTON

Born in Dagsborough, Delaware, 1796. He graduated from Yale in 1815 and after four years of law study and admittance to the bar he entered practice at Dover. After serving as a member of the legislature and Secretary of State of Delaware, he was elected a United States Senator, in 1829. Considered one of the ablest debaters and orators in the Senate, he served with distinction almost continuously for twenty years. Clayton (pictured above) was appointed Secretary of State in 1849 and negotiated the famous Clayton-Bulwer Treaty during his brief tenure. He was again in the United States Senate in 1853, serving until his death in 1856.

President Taylor's Vice-President was Millard Fillmore.

MRS. ZACHARY TAYLOR

Born in Maryland, in 1788, Margaret Smith, capable and high-principled, was married at twenty-four to Captain Zachary Taylor. For forty years she accompanied him on his military assignments. Looking forward to a quiet retirement she was heart-broken over his becoming President, convinced they were too old for such a drastic change of life. In poor health, she turned many of the White House duties to her vivacious twenty-two-year-old daughter, Mrs. Betty Bliss. With gaiety the keynote, Betty presided with a fresh and captivating charm during her brief reign of sixteen months. Mrs. Taylor survived her husband two years. She died in 1852.

Face Russia

Calm—Herter

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Wednesday the United States should face Russia in the future with a "calm, resolute and vigilant posture."

He urged the government to explore "every available opportunity to move our relations on to a more hopeful plane of increased understanding and mutual cooperation."

In a commencement address at the University of Pittsburgh where he received an honorary degree, Herter said "hermit nations" like Russia are a danger to the world. He called for instead a "world of open societies."

The U2 spy plane incident was not specifically mentioned by the secretary. He did, however, renew the theme that reconnaissance flights over the Soviet Union had been necessary to guard against surprise attack in this nuclear missile age.

PP&L Report Is Cited In Contest

PP&L's 1959 annual report received an honorable mention award this week at the annual Edison Electric Institute Convention in Atlantic City in a contest conducted among the world's major electric light and power companies.

This latest award is the 27th national citation won by the local utility in annual report competition in the last 16 years. The 30-Page PP&L entry was cited for effectively dramatizing, humanizing and simplifying its story of 1959 Company operations in a way that every reader could understand, for its excellence in using pictures throughout the annual report and for demonstrating graphically the effects of inflation. The PP&L report made liberal use of executives and employees photos in its 1959 review of company operations and devoted a special section to the explanation of the adverse effects of inflation upon the national economy.

PP&L received the award for companies in the 400,000 or more customer category.

Dairymen Get Official Backing

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson promised dairymen Wednesday night he would back new state legislation to abolish milk dating if New York City restores the practice.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner is considering approval of a bill passed by the City Council that would transfer milk dating from the City Health to Markets Department and bypass a new state law that bans the practice in the city.

Approval by Wagner would be a "badly political maneuver," Wilson told 700 delegates attending the annual dinner of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative.

Wilson said he assumed the 1961 Legislature would act to negotiate any move by New York City to restore milk dating.

"It is quite clear that this practice, originated 38 years ago as a public health measure, has been made obsolete by modern processing and handling methods and current inspection regulations," Wilson said in prepared remarks.

"Not only has it become outmoded but it is misleading because the milk is dated not when it is produced but when it is pasteurized," Wilson added.

Dairymen feel retailers buy shorter supplies when milk is dated, because of fear housewives will refuse to buy milk when dates show it is more than a day old.

Dear Abby

Grin And Don't Bear It

Dear Abby: My wife often gets involved in neighborhood tiffs. It's usually over the children. None of these disagreements are very serious or lasting, but there is plenty of commotion at the time. Most of the time I think, my wife is right, but then I hear only her side of it.

The trouble is she expects to

Pen Argyl Boy Picked

FREDERICK W. Hahn of 604 George St., Pen Argyl, has been selected for admission to the special six-week Institute for High School Science Students to be conducted at Bucknell University this summer.

He is among 50 highly qualified high school junior boys, chosen from more than 200 applicants, who will be enrolled in the Institute, made possible by a grant to Bucknell from the National Science Foundation.

Tuition, fees, and half of the living expenses for each boy will be provided through the grant, according to Dr. Lester Kieft, professor of chemistry at Bucknell, who will direct the Institute, scheduled to open Monday, June 13.

Purpose of the Institute is to give superior high school students an opportunity to familiarize themselves with science instruction at the college level and to develop an enthusiasm for possible careers in science.

Shakes Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Two strong earth tremors shook quake-devastated southern Chile Wednesday. No casualties were reported.

keep track of whom she is currently mad at and I am supposed to be mad at that woman and her whole family. My wife says a husband should be "loyal" to his wife and back her up.

I am by nature a friendly guy and I don't like being mad at people who haven't done me any harm. This is a sore point between us, Abby, and I'd like your opinion.

FRIENDLY

Dear Friendly: A man who "gets mad" at a whole family simply because of a quarrel between wives, shows his stupidity, not his loyalty. Let your wife fight her own battles and don't get involved in the neighborhood squabbles.

Dear Abby: My husband plays poker with a group of men every Saturday night. For one lame excuse or another no one else wants to have the game at his house, so it winds up here almost every time.

As in every crowd, there's always someone who wants to play "one more hand" to recoup his losses. As a result they play until dawn. I don't have to stay up to wait on them, but I can't sleep with those poker chips clinking all night.

Am I being unreasonable to ask them to have the game somewhere else once in a while?

MRS. CHIPS

Dear Mrs. Chips: If you want to keep the home fires burning, take the chip off your shoulder and throw it on the logs. Many "poker widows" would love to have your problem. At least you know where your husband is every Saturday night.

Dear Abby: Eleven years ago I married a man whose parents were European-born. His family thinks he has a halo over his head and I have horns growing out of mine. They all speak very good English, but when I'm around they start talking in an old country language which they claim I can't understand. They claim they don't speak English because they don't want the children to understand what they are saying. Yet they use the most vulgar words in the English language when the children are present. I don't get it. Don't tell me to complain to my husband. His parents can do no wrong. How does a good wife who loves her husband cope with a problem like this?

NEEDING ADVICE

Dear Needing: Ask your husband to teach you a few words of that foreign language. Then learn a few phrases. Next time his family congregates, toss out a phrase or two in their native tongue. Look wise and chime in occasionally. They'll assume you know more than you do, and soon they'll figure they might as well speak English, or another language.

Confidential To "Bergie"

True confession may be good for the soul—but it's usually bad for the heel. Don't nag him.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teen-Ager," is on sale at all bookstores.

5 Elephants Cause Change

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Five stubborn elephants caused a change of acts at Kennyward Park Wednesday by refusing to perform from a stage in the middle of a lagoon.

Two of the elephants would not cross a bridge over the lagoon. The other three made it across, but then refused commands from their trainer.

An aerial act will replace the elephants.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

By one of the paradoxes that make life interesting, the more clothes I wash and press, the less I have to wear. It works on the same principle as when the housewife gets the living room all cleaned up for company and then doesn't let her poor family live in it.

Just in case, this crazy idea of spending the Summer in Europe should come true, in the last few weeks I have gradually been washing and ironing everything in sight and hanging it in the spare room.

Until finally there's nothing left but a sack dress from the sad era, a few skirts that drag the ground and a few blouses that have something drastically wrong with them. But you should see the spare room! Oh well, I thought comfortably at the beginning, I don't have 44 pounds of Summer clothes anyway. But when the closet rod started to bow under the weight of them, I changed my mind.

But not one of them seems to fit the specifications from the travel tips. Most of the cottons are from before the era of the drip-dry. There isn't a "basic black" in the lot. Cotton knits, they never have made them in small enough sizes.

But they are clean — and that's the way they're going to stay until I get a chance to do some deciding before next Tuesday, even if I have to turn up to greet the Laurel Princesses tonight in my housecoat.

Perched prominently on top of the pile of clean underwear is that minuscule little flight bag in which I got that bikini at the fashion show last winter. "Are you taking your bikini?" a friend asked and then before I had a chance to answer myself, another friend replied: "Don't be silly, it's the other way round. When she got the bikini she asked herself 'Now where can I wear this? Oh yes, Italy,' and decided then and there to go."

Well, it makes as much sense that way as the way it really happened.

Shortbread Recipe For Scotsman

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

Men who do distaff-side cooks a favor and occasionally prepare a favorite dish usually have their specialties. How and why they arrived at these is anybody's guess.

A man we know is an expert on meat croquettes. Other acquaintances have taken these for their province: beef birds, Caesar salad, Roquefort dressing, gazpacho, spaghetti sauce, yeast bread, Hungarian goulash, artichokes, pear cobbler and crepes. Now a reader writes that he yearns to bake shortbread, but wants the recipe to bear the strong imprint of its Scottish ancestry.

A delicious matter to delve into! For comparison purposes we tasted various brands of imported shortbread and looked into Scottish cook books. One of the books gives no less than six shortbread recipes; the following recipe is based on one including cornstarch because that product, used widely in the British Isles, helps to give a desired texture. This American version is a reasonable facsimile of the real thing.

Scots Shortbread

Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted cake flour, ¼ cup cornstarch, ½ cup (¼ pound) butter, ¾ cup sugar.

Method: Sift together the cake flour and cornstarch. Cream butter and sugar until the consistency of whipped butter. Add sifted dry ingredients gradually until dough is stiff enough to work with hands. Knead in remaining dry ingredients until well blended and dough forms a ball. Shape into a round cake (about 7 inches in diameter) on a cookie sheet. With a knife score almost through to make 8 pie-shaped wedges; with fork lines prick in an even pattern and flute edges or press. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven for 15 minutes; reduce heat to 275 degrees and continue baking for 30 minutes. Allow to cool about 5 minutes before removing from cookie sheet. When thoroughly cool wrap in waxed paper and store in air-tight container. For lengthy storage put container in refrigerator; cookies may be reheated in slow oven, then allowed to cool and re-press.

Family, Friends Honor Cases On Golden Wedding

Barrett — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Case of Cresco were married 50 years ago on May 25. Because of the long illness of Mrs. Case, the open house was held from Saturday to Wednesday.

They were married in Wilkes-Barre on May 25, 1910 by Rev. Joshua Brundage, and have two sons, Quintus of Slittville, N. Y., and Gerald of Cresco, and four grandchildren.

Quintus and his son, Charles, came up from Slittville, for a visit and other callers were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Emery and daughter, Lois, of West Chester; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Milner of Scranton; Mrs. Ruth Eckert, East Stroudsburg; Arlene Oiler, Mary and Annie Bush, Edith Seguire and Lena Swaine, all of Cresco. Mrs. Eckert presented them with a wedding cake.

On Tuesday night, their son, Gerald, and his family and other guests celebrated with them. A four tier cake, made by Lorraine Stiff was presented to them. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stiff and daughters, Diane and Lorraine, Mount Pocono; and Ruth Hay, Cresco.

They received many gifts, cards and flowers.

Maries Rumsey To Work With West Berlin Refugees In IJGD This Summer

Working with the refugees in West Berlin will fill the summer for Miss Maries Rumsey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Rumsey, Main St., Stroudsburg.

Maries, who was graduated from Elmira College this June, will be a member of a work camp, one of many sponsored by the Internationale Jugendgemeinschaftsdienste, known as IJGD. For 11 years these work camps, subsidized by the Western German Government, have been organized by the association which is a member of the coordination committee for International Voluntary Work Camps, which has its seat at UNESCO and headquarters in Paris.

It is a politically unbiased, interdenominational and private organization. The work done by the young people is for the benefit of the community in which they work. They help to construct youth camps and hospitals, they help with the care of children. A large part of their service is in social work, helping the refugee camps.

Miss Rumsey has been assigned to a camp, helping with refugees in West Berlin. The camps run for periods of three weeks or the entire summer. Each camp has a personnel of about 15 or 20 volunteers of whom 30 to 50 percent come from the United States.

Miss Rumsey, who was awarded a tuition scholarship at the Graduate Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, will attend the University of Pennsylvania School of Social Work on her return to this country.

Girl Scouts Honor Their Leader

Troop No. 9 which meets at the E. S. Methodist Church held their Court of Awards on Monday in the form of a covered dish supper. The families of the Girl Scouts were guests. The supper was organized by the troop committee, Mrs. Donald Heller, Mrs. Clyde Lessig, Mrs. William Cooke, Mrs. Gilbert Hastings and Mrs. Rudolph Blitz.

Grace was sung by the girls of the troop. The invocation was led by Mrs. Harold Eaton. The covered dish supper was also to honor Mrs. Fred Fatzinger leader of troop 9, who is leaving Girl Scouting this year. The girls of the troop presented her with a Scarab bracelet. Kathy Cooke, as the oldest member, made the presentation. Janet Heller presented her with a corsage of roses.

The honored guest, Mrs. Lillian Acker, reminisced of Mrs. Fatzinger's early experiences as a leader in Girl Scouting. Mrs. Rudolph Blitz spoke in behalf of the parents to thank Mrs. Fatzinger for her time and patience in training the girls for the past four years.

First class ranks were awarded to Sally Ferree, Janet Heller, Linda Boushell, Linda Gordon and Patricia Miller. A first class scout is a first class person. They have some skills in many fields, have become proficient in one. It required hard work and the ability to stick at a job once started.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"The friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

I'm not sure how this would be possible, but IF the Poconos are more beautiful this evening than they were even this morning, it may be due to the arrival of this year's Laurel Blossom Princesses. And IF the sun shines brighter tomorrow than you've ever seen it, it is probably because Little Miss Sunshine herself — Betsy Palmer of TV fame — has arrived to crown our Laurel Queen.

Frankly, I'm even more thrilled about Betsy's visit, than I would be by all of the other girls wrapped into one big package and tied with a cluster of our state flower . . . for of all the women whose faces look into mine from the television screen or the pages of slick fashion magazines, she is the only one who makes me truly envious. Betsy ALWAYS manages to look as though the world had been handed her in an oyster shell, and she had opened it to find a priceless pearl inside. She shimmers like Christmas lights . . . but manages somehow to look as gay, soft, and sweet as cotton candy at a carnival. If, instead of having Betsy crown the queen, Sally Ferree should decide to place the crown on Betsy's own shiny locks, I'd go along with the idea and cheer like all get out!

Not that the Princesses themselves aren't attractive! From their photographs in the Daily Record, I'd say they are as ravishing as any group of girls ever assembled here or anywhere else, and naturally they're going to add immeasurably to the local scene between tonight and their departure on June 15th.

Sally has forwarded a Laurel Blossom Time schedule, which emphasizes the numerous activities in which local persons may participate, giving them the opportunity to see the Royal Court and meet the girls. The first is the coronation at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Pocono Manor Inn, at which time Miss Palmer will be guest of honor. The second is the Coronation Ball also at Pocono Manor Inn, at 10 o'clock, with tickets priced at 3.00 per couple.

The third public event is, of course, the big Laurel Parade on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. I still remember last year's parade, which was delightful, with each of the lovely princesses smiling upon the hundreds of enthusiastic well wishers who lined the streets of the Stroudsburgs. Beginning Friday and continuing through Saturday, local stores will observe Laurel Blossom Festival Days with special values representing truly golden shopping opportunities. It is to be expected that prior to the parade on Saturday, the stores will be thronged by local customers as well as by visitors from everywhere. This parade promises to be the biggest and finest we've ever had. The Marine Drum and Bugle Corps will come from Washington to participate, along with many other musical organizations from all sections of the state, and we'll also be cheering the famed Stange Cadet Corps which has appeared in 162 cities of the United States and Canada.

The fourth public event will be on a Night to Remember — Sunday, June 12th at 9 p.m. Featuring Betty Johnson, the glamorous guest star of so many Jack Paar shows, and Peter Palmer, the Li'l Abner of the musical comedy stage, this show will bring a marvelous galaxy of stars to the East Stroudsburg Memorial Stadium. Tickets are 1.80, a very reasonable price for such a high voltage program. Tom Waring will again charm us as master of ceremonies.

No doubt about it, it's a BIG week. So have fun and participate as often as you can. Let's bloom with the laurel and earn special laurels for good will and hospitality.

Following the business meeting the 51st anniversary of the grange will be celebrated and a Father's Day program will be presented.

The next meeting will be on Friday, July 8.

Green Thumb

Several Reasons Listed For Gray Cast Of Lawns

By George Abraham
GRAY LAWNS: Why is that a lawn will often look grayish or yellowish immediately after you mow the nice green blades? A grayish cast can be due to several reasons:

(1) Infrequent mowing. In late spring and early summer the growth is more lush. If rains cause infrequent clipping the grass will elongate to such a point that any subsequent mowing removes too much leaf surface.

The base of the grass plants will be left exposed, and being yellowish will show up yellow throughout the entire lawn.

Suggestion: At no time should more than $\frac{1}{3}$ of the total leaf surface be removed at a given mowing. Excessive clippings on the grass soon dry up and the greens turn to gray, leaving a grayish cast on the lawn.

Mower Types
(2) Type of Mower: You can drive through the countryside and tell which lawns are mowed with a rotary and which are mowed with a reel type. Rotary mowers get dull quicker because of the work they are put through.

A dull blade will tear the grass at the tips, instead of cutting it like a pair of shears. The torn ends dry up and turn brown, leaving a poor color on the lawn.

Suggestion: Keep your blades sharp! Good lawn men prefer reel type mowers because they claim they clip the grass neater. I have both a reel and a rotary type mower for my lawn.

Incidentally, if your blades have been sharpened, make sure they were not installed upside down. I've seen this happen, causing lawns to yellow off.

(3) Type of Grass: Lawns full of cheap grasses, rye grass or tall fescue, often show up yellow, following a mowing. The only suggestion I have is to try and get more bluegrass into the picture.

Rainy Periods
(4) Leaf Spot disease: During rainy periods grass will often start to turn yellow due to a disease known as Leaf spot, or "Melting Out," a fungus disease most severe where the grass has been clipped too close. Grass is much less damaged where the mower is set at a 2 inch height.

Suggestion: Adjust your mower to cut higher. Spray your lawn at 10 day intervals, during wet periods. Use Captan at rate of 6 ounces per 1,000 sq. ft., or Zineb at rate of 2 ounces per 100 sq. ft.

The Merlon Bluegrass strain is resistant to leaf spot, but is susceptible to powdery mildew and rust. So even with Merlon bluegrass, you have no guarantee of freedom from all disease problems.

To find out what causes your lawns to have that tattle-tale gray, take a close look at the grass blades, and be your own plant doctor. Following the above key you can quickly spot the reason and take steps to make your lawn nice and green following a mowing.

Question Box

Question Of The Week: R. K. of Stroudsburg: "Why do our Parrot tulips wilt each year and the buds also fall off? We have no cat or dog, our yard is fenced off, we have no moles. The tulips are planted in the area where a large tree once stood and most of the roots have been removed. Crocus and anemones do well, but not tulips."

This is a tough question. I sent it to the Associated Bulb Growers in Holland and they suspect that the Parrot tulips are wilting because they are planted in an area where a large tree once stood. The tree probably was an oak, and if tulips are planted at the base of an oak, or in soil where an oak tree recently stood, the chances are that tulips will not do very well, according to the Holland Bulb Growers. Just why oak trees often have unfortunate effects on tulips is beyond me.

The only advice I have to offer is not to plant tulips in this area. Walnut trees have an adverse effect on tomatoes and other crops growing in the immediate area, and the reason for this is attributed to a chemical poison (Juglone) in the roots of the walnut tree.

W. R. of Gilbert: "Regarding your article dealing with squirrels stealing bulbs, I want to say that they present no problems if you feed them instead of fighting them. I have a feeding board 4 x 1 foot built directly in front of two large windows of my kitchen. On the left side I place Spanish peanuts (roasted), and on the right is cracked wheat bread spread with crunch peanut butter and cut in small pieces for the birds. All day long the squirrels are eating the nuts and birds are flying up to their food on the right, both in complete harmony. It's been a rewarding experience and guests, young and old, flock to my kitchen."

K. L. of Wilson: "Last year our sweet cherry tree was loaded. This year it had plenty of blossoms, but only a handful of cherries have set. Why?"

Poor fruit set this year has been due mainly to a lack of pollination. Rainy weather hampered bee activity. If you happened to spray trees in bloom with a fungicide, the material may have killed the pollen grain. Some trees bear heavy one year, poor the next, although this happens more often with apples than with cherries.

F. N. of Ashley: "I never raised the so-called 'Honesty' or 'Silver Dollars' plant. Please tell me if it can still be sown from seed." Honesty or Silver Dollars (Lunaria biennis) gets its name from the fact that the seed pods are round, flat and silvery. Used largely for winter bouquets, although the showy purple flowers are equally attractive in June. A Biennial, you can sow seeds in June or July and get flowers and seed pods the following year. Plants grow about two feet tall. You might be interested in trying other "Everlastings" such as Bells of Ireland, Cockscomb, Perennial Gypsophila, Helichrysum, Blue Salvia and Statice Sinuata, or Statice Latifolia.

Lehigh Presbytery Holds Report Parley In Easton

THE PRESBYTERY of Lehigh met on Tuesday, June 7 at the College Hill Presbyterian Church in Easton, with the host pastor Rev. R. Sandercock welcoming representatives from the forty or more churches in the judicatory.

The meeting was convened by the moderator of Presbytery, Mr. William J. Wilcox of Allentown.

The Rev. Dr. W. Eastwood reporting for the Ministerial Relations Committee brought a report indicating a recommendation to the churches of the presbytery regarding "Non-Owner Automobile Liability Insurance."

The second portion of the report saw calls to pastors extended to The Rev. Dr. W. James, who received a call to the First Presbyterian Church of Easton, The Rev. Charles Cummings who received a call to Portland-Mt. Bethel Church, The Rev. Peter Wendell to the pastorate of the South Church, Easton, Pa., and Rev. G. Dodds to the Faith Church of Emmaus.

Prior to the presentation of the call to Mr. Wendell an examination was held in preparation for ordination by the Presbytery of Lehigh.

Plans for a Presbytery Day were announced by The Rev. J. Anderson. This event is scheduled for September 18 and the Christian Education Committee and Stewardship and Promotion Committee will present their annual emphasis at that time. Chairman Crowther of the Stewardship and Promotion Committee brought news of the successful visitation of the churches in presbytery with a near 100% coverage reported.

The morning session of Presbytery adjourned for lunch after the business of the morning.

The afternoon session of presbytery opened with devotions by The Rev. H. Maue of Olivet Church, Easton Pa. Rev. Norman Koehler of Delaware Water Gap, presented a report on the work being done abroad through the commission on Chaplains and Service Personnel. A picture of the remarkable cooperation between chaplains, American counsels, and native churches abroad was part of the report.

The Rev. Edward Mooney of the National Missions Committee reported on the progress of the Faith Presbyterian Church in Emmaus, Pa. He told of the need for increased support of this church extension work on the part of the various churches in the presbytery. A second item in the report received the approval of Presbytery. This was the yoking of the Second Presbyterian Church of Hazleton and The Presbyterian Church of Freeland.

Elder C. Wolfe of Freeland then brought news of the tremendous expansion and need in the program of Presbyterian Homes of Central Pennsylvania. He announced the projected capital funds drive to be conducted and urged the serious support of the churches in Lehigh Presbytery on this campaign.

Brief Reports
Brief reports were presented by The Rev. E. H. Breitbach on the projected School for the Laity on Evangelism and the resources and programs of the Radio-Television departments of the Presbyterian Church and the National Council of Churches.

A report was presented by the commissioners to General Assembly. A unique feature of the report was a tape of the proceedings of the highest judicatory in the United Presbyterian Church. It was indicated that this would be available for use by the churches in presbytery.

The meeting of the presbytery closed with roll call and prayer.

Barney Wins Lehigh Numeral

ALAN BARNEY, of RD 1, Saylorburg, has been awarded freshman baseball numerals at Lehigh University.

The Engineer freshman squad was undefeated this spring. Quarterback Galen Hall, heir-apparent to Richie Lucas' job at Penn State, completed 18 of 36 passes in 1959 for 220 yards and two touchdowns. Hall also gained 132 yards rushing with a 4.3 rushing average.

And the Nittany Lions' 1960 tentative football squad includes 62 players from Pennsylvania. There are six New Jerseys among the 10 out-of-staters.

The Allentown Fair Ground will use two 16 by 20-foot screens for its closed circuit telecast of the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson title fight on June 20.

The two fighters and the referee will appear twice life-size on the huge screens.

Ingo Takes In Monticello Track

And Johansson, who is noted for his unique training methods, took time off from his Grossinger training camp recently, to visit Monticello Raceway.

The champ was accompanied by his fiancée, Brigit Lundgren, his brother Rolf and several members of his training staff. All except Ingemar kept their distance from the horses.

But Johansson, at the consent of photographers, donned driver's gear and climbed aboard a sulky behind Rusty Don, a six-year-old trotter.

Ingemar said he is not a racing fan but liked to take in the races occasionally. "There is a racetrack near my home in Sweden," he explained "and sometimes I watch the horses there."

Non-Betting Races Booked

Monticello will stage a series of non-betting qualifying races Saturday, June 11, starting at 1 p.m. as a prelude to the opening of its summer racing meet, June 16.

The public is invited to the admission-free events and children will be allowed. During the track's regular meeting, persons under 18-years-old, will not be permitted inside the track.

And the nightly betting average per fan at Monticello last year, was $44.74 compared to $37.91 in 1958.

John Chimenti, teaching professional at Shawnee Inn, guided his team of three amateurs to third place in the Saucon Valley pro-am in Allentown over the weekend.

The 14th annual John A. Allan Memorial Golf Tournament, at Fox Hill Country Club, Pittston, is booked for June 24, 25 and 26.

Qualifying round for the better ball of partners tourney will be held June 24, with match play booked for four flights. There will also be a senior division for contestants 50-years old or over.

Palmer Ahead Of Wall's Pace

Arnold Palmer has won $46,441.19 in official PGA tournament prize money in the first five months of the tour.

By comparison, Art Wall Jr., who set a money winning record last year, had collected $33,880 at this stage in 1959.

Wall was the first pro golfer to break the $50,000 mark in one year without the benefit of the now discontinued World Championship, which gave the winner $50,000 and a guarantee of another $50,000 for exhibitions.

Methodists Top Bankers Behind Curtis

METHODISTS bunched four runs into the second inning on its way to a 5-2 win over East Stroudsburg National Bank in the East Stroudsburg Little League Wednesday.

Curtis went all the way for the winners, giving up nine hits and two runs.

D. Predmore smacked a triple and Counterman a double for the winners. Balick, Scott and Patella each had two hits for the Bangers.

Little Loop To Start Tag Days

THE EAST Stroudsburg Little League will hold its annual "Tag Days" Friday and Saturday.

It is the only time that the league asks for contributions from the public.

Some 150 uniformed players will ring doorbells in both Boroughs. Every person that donates will receive a tag, identifying the donor as a Little League patron.

Buy Uniforms

Proceeds from tag day are used to buy uniforms, bats and balls and other equipment. New uniforms for the entire league were purchased from receipts of last year's tag day.

There will be no game Friday night and league members are asked to pick up tags and con-

Wyckoff's Holds First

O. DURKEE limited Elks to only one-hit Wednesday, as Wyckoff-Sears won its fourth Stroudsburg Little League game 4-0.

Kanouse got the only hit of Durkee, a single. Durkee fanned 10 and walked only one.

The winners, managed six hits of the loser Berkholder, four of them for extra-bases. McAllister, Durkee, McConnell and Welch all had doubles.

The win keeps Wyckoff-Sears a half-game in front of second-place VFW.

Doctor Orders Rest

Jurges Out As Boss Of Floundering Red Sox

BOSTON (AP)—Billy Jurges was relieved of command as Boston Red Sox manager Wednesday for health reasons and was succeeded by Coach Del Baker, an interim choice.

The slump-ridden American League team which has plummeted into last place, announced the decision based on medical advice which suggested Jurges is under extreme pressure from worry and needs a rest.

Team physician Dr. Ralph McCarthy and consultant Dr. Richard Wright examined Jurges, then huddled with Boston owner Tom Yawkey and General Manager Bucky Harris.

Harris said the future would decide the Red Sox managerial question, adding that if Jurges responds to the prescribed rest he will return to the job. Harris also emphasized the promotion of Baker was strictly an interim move.

"At the present time we do not know how long this interim will be, nor have we any definite manager in mind," Harris added.

Jurges was not available for comment.

No Solution

The slim, gray-haired pilot tried numerous maneuvers to get the most out of the material available, but the Sox have lost 20 of their last 25, falling from one half game behind first place to last since May 14. No solution has been found to the retirement of slugger Jackie Jensen and veteran catcher Sammy White or to the muddled first base situation.

Jurges replaced Mike Higgins last July and had a winning record for the remainder of the campaign — with Jensen and White.

Speculation is that Yawkey and Harris huddled during Tuesday night's 12-3 loss to Cleveland when the Sox blew a 2-0 lead by committing four errors in the fourth inning and giving away six unearned runs.

Yawkey retired from his rooftop box after that fateful fourth frame. The physical exam was conducted Wednesday morning.

Howe's Hit Gives Strouds 5-3 Decision Over Slaters

ERNE HOWE's single in the sixth inning, his second hit of the game, gave the Strouds a 5-3 win over the Slaters Wednesday in a Blue Mountain League game at Gordon Giffel's Field.

Tom Barrow, pitching his first game for the Strouds, after hurling for East Stroudsburg State College, scattered seven hits effectively and allowed only two earned runs.

GIANTS Shade Reds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Shortstop Eddie Bressoud singled home two runs with two out in the bottom of the ninth Wednesday to give the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over Cincinnati and Lefty Jim O'Toole.

Cincinnati had taken a 1-0 lead in the top of the ninth on catcher Bob Schmidt's throwing error and O'Toole had given up just five singles until the Giant shortstop hit sharply to center with the bases loaded for two unearned runs.

In that final inning, Willie McCovey led off with a walk. Willie Mays grounded out but Orlando Cepeda beat out an infield hit to put pinch runner Felipe Alou on second. Willie Kirkland lofted a high fly that right-fielder Tony Gonzalez dropped loading the bases.

O'Toole fanned pinch-hitter Jim Davenport before Bressoud delivered his game-winning hit that kept the Giants a game behind league leader Pittsburgh.

The Daily Investor

Investments, Savings

By William A. Doyle

Q. Early this year I was persuaded by a broker to withdraw $6,000 from my savings and loan association account and invest it in Broad Street Investing Corp., a mutual fund. I was told I would have a much greater return on my money. I purchased 455 shares at $13.19 a share, a total cost of $6,001.45.

I received a dividend check on March 31 at the rate of 10 cents a share, or $45.50. That was a "quarterly dividend." On an annual basis, the dividends will amount to 40 cents a share. That's a return of almost exactly three percent a year on my money. My savings and loan account is now paying 4½ percent a year.

This mutual fund doesn't seem to be a good investment at all. Am I right in my thinking?

A. No. Broad Street Investing has been a good investment in the past. While there's no guarantee that it will continue to do well in the future, there's no real reason to be seriously concerned about it.

Your problem seems to be that you don't understand what you did with the money you took out of your savings account. That 4½ percent you receive on your savings and loan account provides fixed income. And, assuming that the S&L account is guaranteed by an agency of the Federal government, it also provides safety.

Mutual fund shares can guarantee neither fixed income nor safety. The dividends paid by a mutual fund vary — depending on the income the mutual fund receives in the form of dividends and interest on the securities it holds.

The value of the shares of a mutual fund also rises and falls — depending on the rise and fall in the market value of the securities it holds.

For all of 1959, Broad Street Investing paid out 44 cents a share in dividends. Its dividend payout has increased gradually over the years. That is good performance.

Its asset value per share has also increased over the years. Again, good performance.

If you thought you were going to get a high yield on this investment, you were wrong. If the broker told you that, he misled you.

Nevertheless, Broad Street Investing does qualify as a good investment. Its aim is to produce "favorable current income . . . and future growth of both income and capital."

The fund also makes capital-gains distributions each year. Last year, that amounted to 24 cents a share. Just don't make the mistake of counting that as income. As has been pointed out here often, capital-gains distributions are a return of capital to mutual fund shareholders.

Smart shareholders reinvest those distributions and keep their capital at work. In the process, they also figure to increase their dividend income—because by reinvesting they increase the number of shares they own. More shares — more dividends.

Q. My mother has some money she can afford to invest. Are there any mutual funds designed primarily to produce income, rather than growth in value?

A. Yes, there are a number of such mutual funds. Different mutual funds have different aims. You should be able to find one or more to suit any purpose you have in mind. But don't ask me to pick one for you. See an investment dealer.
